Virtual Services

Therapy for Intentional Living, 900 Cummings Center, Suite 408-S, is providing telehealth services to existing clients, and is taking on new referrals. During difficult times like these, many people find it comforting to work with a trained mental health professional to help with self-care and anxiety and depression management. For more information or to be matched with a therapist, visit the website or call Elissa at 781-990-3051.

Restaurant Update

Think about supporting your fellow client firms during the COVID-19 crisis. While some of our on-site eateries have chosen to close their doors for the time being, the following eateries remain open for takeout. If takeout is not the right option for you, consider purchasing a gift card for future use.

Call for Submissions

We want to hear from you!

Have you adapted your business to offer virtual services during the pandemic? Is your firm providing vital healthcare services or medical research during this challenging time? Hoping to share some helpful tips or special offers with other Cummings clients? Email your news, offers, and photos to Helen Jeffers at newsbrief@cummings.com.

Simple Smiles

During these times of uncertainty, it can be difficult to see the sunnier side of things. We are inviting all North Shore News readers to submit photos of something or some place that without fail always makes them smile. The submission possibilities are endless. We only ask that these photos do not include people.

Shoe Snippets

Fun facts about the historic Cummings Center site, formerly know as "The Shoe"

For more than 70 years, "The Shoe" dominated the economic life of Beverly and its surrounding communities. Many neighborhoods, including Shingleville and Gloucester Crossing, were developed to house the factory's workers, and the residents thrived because of the shoe-making industry's success.
